District Representatives Message

Brother Kenneth Rodgers
32nd Second District Representative

Brothers,
I greet you in the name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ and I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as your District Representative. In the year of our Centennial Celebration, the Second District has yet again stood among the tall trees representing the Fraternity proudly. Thank you for an extraordinary year of Service. You have continued to carry the torch where the Light of Life still shines.

Second District Highlights

During our reorganization meeting, the Executive Team pledged to make every effort to be the professional advocates that you have entrusted us to be. Our first order of business was to elect Brother Andrew A Ray as Grand Basileus. The Brothers of Chi and Mu

Gamma Gamma Chapters hosted the Second District's first Independent Candidates Forum. From there, we charged into Raleigh, North Carolina for the 76th Grand Conclave coming home with not only the 39th Grand Basileus but adding the 42nd Second Vice Grand Basileus to our legacy. Since leaving Raleigh, the Second District proudly conducted its Annual James S. Avery Shirtsleeve Conference and Undergraduate Summit. We have been extremely active on the Social Action front by hosting District-wide Blood Drives, participating in Domestic Violence Forums and playing key roles in the international development of the Fraternity's Fatherhood Initiative Program, led by Brother Thabiti Boone. Lambda Gamma Gamma Chapter hosted the Centennial Kickoff Celebration. Continuing in the Centennial theme, Gamma Pi, Pi Omega, and Mu Omega Chapters hosted the International Centennial Memorial Day Program, which was coordinated by the Inspector General, Brother George McKinney and officiated by Grand Chaplin, Brother Christopher Curry. These are but a few of the highlights of a phenomenal year. All of this was possible because Men of Character band together to execute the business of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc.

63rd Second District Conference

We will now conduct our 63rd Second District Conference, hosted by Nu Nu Chapter in Cherry Hill, New Jersey. Many of you are faced with the question of how best to manage our financial resources and as you may well know- it cost to be an Omega.

I encourage each of you to not miss out on the historic events that are fast approaching. The Centennial Second District Conference will be an outstanding program. We have prepared an aggressive agenda that includes familiar activities such as the Undergraduate Luncheon, Founders Banquet, Pan-Hellenic Dance, Quette Curriculum, Talent Hunt, etc. What's more is that we have a Casino Night, Old School Jam, and a Grown and Sexy Dance.

The Information Technology Chair, Brother Maurice Calhoun, recognized the Second District did not have a logo and vetted his idea of creating a District logo through the Executive Council. The Executive Council approved of the idea and subsequently solicited thoughts for an official Second District Logo. We received four unique and creative examples for a logo. Among the four drafts logos received, the Executive Council independently voted for their top choice. The result is the selection submitted by Brother Jeffery Covington.

Moving forward the District will present its plans for a Centennial Celebration to be held in November 2011. If you require additional information, please feel free to contact me via email at 2ndDistrictDR@oppf.org or by phone at (202) 439-8519.

Fraternally,

Brother Kenneth E. Rodgers
32nd Second District Representative

Nu Nu Brother Thomas Mayfield -Tuskegee Airman

Brother Thomas Mayfield

WILLINGBORO, NJ.- Thomas H. Mayfield never set out to be one of the original Tuskegee Airmen. Not until a few college classmates convinced him to visit a recruiter from the Army Air Corps. Within a matter of hours, Mayfield was accepted into the corps and headed to basic training. "I had no idea what was going on," he said. The recruiter told him he had signed up and would be leaving that night. "I told my mother, 'I'm in the Army Air Corps,'" he said. His mother's response: "Well, I didn't raise no fool," Mayfield said with a laugh.

After training at a couple of bases, the East Shinnston, W.Va., youngster eventually found himself in the middle of the deep South in Tuskegee, Ala. "On the base it wasn't bad, but it was segregated," Mayfield said. Being the first African-American aviators in the armed forces, the Tuskegee Airmen were subjected to discrimination in the military and throughout the country. Despite the challenges they faced, Mayfield and the hundreds of other men in the corps excelled.

They trained to be aircraft and engine mechanics, armament specialists, radio repairmen, parachute riggers, control tower operators, policemen, administrative clerks, and all of the other skills needed for a flying squadron or ground support unit. From 1941 through 1946, 994 pilots graduated from the Tuskegee Army Airfield. Mayfield was one of them. He rose from the rank of private to lieutenant colonel, but that didn't mean he wasn't subjected to racism along the way. "A couple bases the white airmen refused to salute you," he said. But not everyone was that way.

Mayfield recalled a time in Florida when a woman ran him off the road and a police officer came to his assistance. "The officer said, 'I saw the whole thing.' He told me, 'She's getting a ticket, and she'll be paying to get your car fixed,'" he said.

Despite the struggles, Mayfield and the other airmen persevered.

During his 29 years in the service, including his time as a Tuskegee Airman and in the Air Force, Mayfield took part in tours with the 99th Pursuit Squadron, 477th Bombardment Group; served as squadron commander for the C-130 Support Squadron, and as a squadron commander and chief of supplies at a base in Portugal; and performed many other duties. All told, Mayfield served in Alabama, California, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, New Jersey and Oklahoma, and also Bermuda, Japan and Portugal. He took part in three wars, World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War, before retiring in 1970.

And he also excelled in his studies, earning a degree in commercial education from Bluefield State College in West Virginia, a master's in educational administration from the University of Illinois, and an honorary doctorate from the Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

Mayfield taught business administration in St. Louis, and was a guidance counselor in Camden and a special education teacher in Pemberton Township. In 1987, he and the other Tuskegee Airmen were awarded the Congressional Gold Medal by President George Bush. While Mayfield acknowledged that it wasn't easy, he is proud of what he and his fellow airmen accomplished, especially because they were expected to fail.

"If we hadn't stayed together, we wouldn't have made it," he said. "They didn't think we could do it, but we did through perseverance."

Brother Mayfield is 93 years old and a member of Nu Nu Chapter.

Nu Omicron Makes History at St Johns

The Nu Omicron Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, Inc. recently made history at St. John's University, Queens, NY, by becoming a member of Greek Life for the first time in the history of the University. The brothers of Nu Omicron envisioned St. John's University as an ideal place to expand and attract undergraduate members. Therefore, under the leadership of Basileus, Brother Errin Hatwood, the chapter began an arduous 2-year task which involved a significant amount of planning and meeting university officials. Additionally, brothers had to provide a number of presentations to various university entities who voted to accept or deny the chapter entry into Greek Life. Through the diligent efforts put forth by many brothers in the chapter, Nu Omicron received an official welcome from St. John's University in the fall 2010. Such acknowledgement allows Nu Omicron to conduct various programs on the campus throughout the year. One of the first programs in which the chapter participated was Meet The Greeks, in which student members of the University interacted with members of the Greek letter organizations on campus. The program was a great first step in ultimately establishing an undergraduate chapter of The Omega Psi Fraternity, Inc. at St. John's, which will add to the history making legacy.

Pi Chapter Social Action Project

Baltimore, MD. March 2011. Pi chapter at Morgan State University continues to set the pace throughout the state of Maryland by mentoring inner city youth. Brothers of Pi chapter recently visited Benjamin Franklin Community Academy at Masonville Cove to mentor middle and high school students. The visit was the first in many to the CCYD-Changz after school program in a mission to make a positive difference in the lives of youth who are vulnerable to becoming involved with the juvenile justice system. CCYD is a social service organization, which provides caring and comprehensive services; offers essential youth development opportunities; and an innovative learning facility that sets high standards of success and achievement for disadvantaged youth. The evidence is clear in showing that a young person's participation in CCYD's Changz after school program supports higher scores and better academic grades; keeps them off the streets and out of trouble; and connects them to the community in which they live. Each visit usually involves five to ten chapter members with backgrounds similar to the children. As a result, the children can usually relate to the young brothers of Omega Psi Phi better than they can with the school staff. After the mentoring sessions they follow up with an hour of Step practice with the Changz step team.

Tau Lambda Lambda Purple Boot Mentoring Project

Southern MD The Brothers of Tau Lambda Lambda Chapter can't think of many better ways to start the year off, than by having January be National Mentoring Month. Like many of the other national months, it can be said that this month should be every day. The Brothers agree.

The website, www.nationalmentoringmonth.org, has a list of 10 things to do in January and the top three are: 1. Become a mentor in your community; 2. Learn more about mentoring 3. Partner with a mentoring organization. What an awesome list.

The Brothers of Tau Lambda Lambda Chapter have always supported mentoring since the chapter was chartered in Hughesville, MD in 2004. TLL began operating the Purple Boot Initiative (PBI) in 2009. PBI is a program that focuses on the development of young boys aged 7 to 14 in Southern Maryland. The program began at Indian Head Elementary School and the chapter is currently looking to expand it.

The Purple Boot Initiative was created in 1996 by Brother Etu Evans at the Harlem Day Charter School in Harlem, N.Y. Brother Evans believes that the impossible becomes possible when we raise the levels of expectation, resources and exposure of young boys. In less than a year of its inception, the Purple Boot Initiative increased the academic and behavioral performance of its mentees by more than 50 percent. TLL is proud of this success.

Tau Lambda Lambda Fuller House Social Action Project

Tau Lambda Lambda Brothers volunteer at Fuller House Fish Fry

Waldorf, MD – Tau Lambda Lambda (TLL) Chapter recently provided its annual fish fry luncheon and conducted a canned food drive for the Robert Fuller Transitional House. This program has existed for several years and past years have also included community donation drives to provide suits and suit accessories to the men so they may have professional dress during job interviews.

“One of our greatest commandments is to love our neighbors as ourselves,” said Brother Ike Templeton as he led the lunchtime prayer during the event.

Brother Jeffrey Cowins, the current Keeper of Finance for TLL, provided the expertise in the kitchen for the morning. He shared that volunteering is vital not only to the chapter, but also to himself. “It’s important that we really connect with the residents and share more of ourselves.”

The New Revival Center of Renewal, lead by Bishop Paul Wells, has managed the transitional home since 2006. The home services an average of 20 men at a time with varying life circumstances, to include the areas of addiction, counseling, mental diagnosis, homelessness, and those in need of job placement.

“Bishop Wells has been a God-send to this shelter and myself,” said Derrick Holmes, a house manager at the shelter. Holmes is a former inmate who uses his experience as one of the ways that he connects with the residents, especially those whom have also served time in prison. TLL invites the local community to continue to be transformed by participating in the service projects the chapter provides to Southern Maryland.

Tau Lambda Lambda Talent Hunt Competition

Waldorf, MD A stool and a microphone is all that Kaytlin Medley asked for from Tau Lambda Lambda (TLL) Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc during the chapter's 3rd Annual Talent Hunt competition held February 26, 2011. Kaytlin, a sophomore at Westlake High School, supplied the instruments; an acoustic guitar and an amazingly sweet voice. In return, the audience offered cheers and an applause that seemed to make Kaytlin blush. The Brothers of TLL Chapter presented her with something else: First place and a $500.00 cash award.

The Talent Hunt is a nationally mandated program of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., and the event provides an avenue for high school students to show their talent in an encouraging environment. Winners are recognized for their achievement and receive cash awards. Brother Jake Prater chaired the event for the second year in a row. "I'm glad that the event was a success," he said. "And we're proud today because each student came out and gave 110%. In our eyes, they are all winners and we want to encourage them to continue to hone their talents."

First and second runners-up were Darnell Williams and Robert Harris, respectively. Darnell is a junior at North Point High School and had the audience clapping their hands with his energetic tap dance routine. Robert is a senior at McDonough High School and had fingers snapping and toes tapping while he shared his talent of singing. Denise Brown, a resident of Waldorf, brought her two middle school aged children to the program. "Although my kids aren't old enough to compete yet, I wanted to bring them to plant the seeds of success in their minds," she shared. "This event is good for the youth in Southern Maryland." Medley will travel to Cherry Hill, NJ, in April to compete in the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. Second District Conference's Talent Hunt Competition.

Tau Lambda Lambda Youth In Technology Summit

Southern, MD The Brothers of Tau Lambda Lambda (TLL) Chapter believe that technology runs the world. In order for our youth, the leaders of tomorrow, to fully grasp and maximize their potential, it is necessary for them to embrace technology and also be prepared to ride its waves of changes. This adaptability allows our young people to stay abreast of the latest technological offerings and be creative with ideas to remain ahead of the curve. This approach is aligned with TLL Chapter's core values of empowering and educating our youth and citizens of Southern Maryland. It was not only our duty and our pleasure to have volunteered for the third annual Youth in Technology Summit recently at the College of Southern Maryland's La Plata campus, but also our honor. Many of our members have school-aged children who have attended the summit in current and past years. Our members understand firsthand the benefits of technology and what the summit has to offer our youth.

TLL Chapter has been a steadfast supporter of the summit since its inception, in 2008, because we believe the information and workshops that the summit offers our community are vital.

These offerings include opportunities to network with peers and intermingle with adult professionals who work in varying areas of technology, post-high school educational, financial and career planning, workshops and hands-on, interactive technology demonstrations.

Tau Lambda Lambda Chapter looks forward to continuing to support the annual technology summit and other programs in Southern Maryland that directly cater to the needs of our youth and neighbors.

Henderson, affectionately known as "Punchy" to some, was initiated through Upsilon Chapter at Central State University, Wilberforce Ohio in 1948. Bro. Henderson matriculated and graduated with his Bachelor's Degree in Music in 1949. Bro. Henderson furthered his Scholastic achievements with a Master's degree from Columbia University, in New York City. Brother Henderson moved back to Baltimore in 1955, and soon took the position of Choir Director at Morgan State College, and served several years in this capacity.

Bro. Henderson also gave 35 years dedicated service to the Baltimore City Public Schools as music teacher and as an Assistant Principle. Brother Henderson was the Founder and Director of the Choir, the Olton Singing Society. With this esteemed experience, our Brother was an ideal choice for Pi Omega Chapter's Talent Hunt Committee chair, where he served for 10 years in the 70's and 80's Bro. Clarence Henderson has been an ideal role model of an Omega Man and exemplified Manhood, Scholarship, Perseverance, and Uplift. Every month at Pi Omega's monthly Chapter meeting we saluted our Brother Henderson during roll call with a standing ovation for his 60 years of service to Omega.

Tau Pi Reflections on the Centennial Memorial Service

Columbia, MD. March 2011. Though buoyed by years of great Omega experiences, and opportunities that increased our membership's understanding of Omega mysteries, strangely, many of the Brothers of Tau Pi Chapter had never visited the gravesites of our Beloved Founders. However, when the announcement arrived inviting Brothers to participate in the Centennial Founders Memorial Service, it not only opened our eyes, but reminded us all that our continued education in Omega was still on-going.

Early Saturday morning, forty-five chapter brothers boarded a scheduled motor coach to the Lincoln Memorial Cemetery, Suitland, Maryland, where Founders Dr. Ernest E. Just, and Professor Frank Coleman were interred. To our delight, we viewed a well maintained cemetery and plots where our Founders' lay. Former Grand Basilei attended and added a necessary measure to this most solemn of occasions. Reflecting back on our first Memorial Service of the day, the Brotherhood felt a proud heartfelt sense that the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity stands strong today, and an even prouder future to come.

Next we journeyed to Mt. Auburn Cemetery in Baltimore to visit the final resting place of Founder Bishop Edgar A. Love. Cold and cloudy, we were greeted by the good Brothers of Pi Omega Chapter who served as worthy hosts. Closely grouped, the Brothers listened intently to the Memorial Service led by Brother George McKinney. We were joined in prayer with members of Founder Love's family. The Brotherhood once again stood with their heads high after the ceremony. They reflected that although Founder Love deserved a better resting place, that someday, somehow the Lord would prevail and provide a way to improve conditions by which he is buried at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Our final trip of the day took us to where Founder Oscar J. Cooper was buried at Whitmarsh Memorial Park, in Ambler, Pennsylvania. By now, the sun was bright and high in the sky, and more and different Brothers were in attendance. There was ample room for the brothers to surround the grave of Founder Cooper.

The best way to reflect on this day is to say thanks to all the wonderful Tau Pi Chapter Brothers, but especially Brothers Steve Williams, and Joseph Alston for the pictures they have shared of the Centennial Founders Memorial Service events and to Brother Milbert Brown for making himself available to shoot photos at Founders Just and Coleman's gravesites; Brother Charlie Mitchell for ensuring that the Brothers ate well on this day; Brothers Eric Clark (Basileus), Jay Kerr (Vice-Basileus), and Milton Darby (Keeper or Records and Seal) for representing the Tau Pi chapter leadership; and Brother Henry Bell who I knew had our backs covered medically. Thanks to Brothers Jerry Watkins, Kelvin Rawls, Jetty Viot, Bart Griffin, Oliver Jackson, Richard Layne, Ramsey Alexander, Lawrence Pittman, Julius Chapman, Frank Fennell, Chuck Brown, the Hebron Brothers – Andy and Eric, Mint Basnight, Jason Sumter, Devore Irick, Henry Jenkins, Carlos Robinson, Anthony Smith, Peter Higginbotham, Chester Williams, Bobby McGlotten, and all of the rest. I thank you all for making our trip an immense success!

Gamma Pi Mardi Gras 2011

Prince George's County, Md. March 18, 2011. For nearly 40 years, Gamma Pi chapter has made its annual Mardi Gras Dinner & Dance Extravaganza a "can't miss" social event in Prince George's County. This year's event, held Friday night, March 18, was also "can't miss" and for those who did miss it, it was truly something special as a sellout crowd of just over 900 rocked and dined the night away at the Martin's Crosswinds in Greenbelt.

Besides the good time and the outstanding music of The Soul Patrol band, the event was made special by the appearance of Grand Basileus Brother Dr. Andrew Ray. It was the first time the chapter's Mardi Gras has ever been graced by a Grand Basileus. During intermission, Bro. Dr. Ray addressed the crowd and related the importance of the 2011 Centennial as a special once-in-a-lifetime event for Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., inviting them to share in Omega's international celebration during the coming months.

In addition to the Grand Basileus, Second District Representative Brother Kenneth Rodgers, a former three-term Basileus of Gamma Pi, was in attendance. He was joined by several local political and government dignitaries who were also on hand including newly elected Prince George's County Executive, Brother Rushern Baker II. Brother County Executive Baker, who was initiated at Alpha chapter, is also a member of Gamma Pi chapter. Another special guest was Brother Carl McNair, of Atlanta, who is the blood brother of the late NASA astronaut hero Brother Dr. Ronald E. McNair, who perished aboard the Space Shuttle Challenger in 1986. The 25th anniversary of that event was observed earlier this year.

This year's Mardi Gras was billed as the Centennial version and featured a 1970s theme as the focal point of the costume contest. The theme was so popular that it spawned a long, winding carnival style parade of costumes during intermission, something Gamma Pi Brothers had not seen in recent years. Cash prizes were awarded for costumes in several categories. Mardi Gras also crowned the King and Queen for this year, which was Brother

Gamma Pi Mardi Gras 2011 Costume Contest

Dr. Lester Miles and his daughter, who received the honor for selling the highest number of tickets. Bro. Dr. George Edwards, a 55-yearmember of the Fraternity, was the 2010 Mardi Gras King.

Mixing in oldies from the 1970s with more contemporary hits from the hip-hop genre, The Soul Patrol rocked the house in a way that will be remembered for years by Gamma Pi and its patrons. In between dancing and fellowshiping with members of the Fraternity and friends, patrons were able to dine on

The chapter also held its popular Silent Auction as part of the Mardi Gras. Each year, the Silent Auction and the dance and dinner provide Gamma Pi chapter with the bulk of funds needed to run its expansive social action programs throughout the year. These include programs for homeless families, men down on their luck, children, youth headed to college and seniors who are often overlooked and forgotten.

Brothers Alfonzo Powell and Ronald Swann chaired the Mardi Gras committee and were congratulated by the brothers on a stellar job. They are already starting on planning next year's event. Only the Super Chapter!

Brother Brian Monroe

Bro. Brian Monroe Establishes Scholarship at Cornell University in Honor of His Father

Brother Brian Monroe, Cornell University alumnus, establishes a scholarship providing financial assistance to deserving students at his alma mater, Cornell University's ILR School.

The Byron K. Monroe Hope Scholarship, named for Monroe's father, will benefit undergraduate students. It will focus on African American students who have financial need, but who have demonstrated "exceptional leadership potential" and active in community service.

He created the Scholarship to honor his father, who made incredible sacrifices to further his education. Brian describes his father as the foundation of his success. There were not many resources available during the time my father was financing my education and somehow he made a way. The scholarship will be used to support students at Cornell University's ILR School, a leading school of the applied social sciences focused on the study of workplace practice and policy. Monroe graduated from the ILR School in 1994.

Brother Brian Monroe is currently an attorney with the Target Corporation in Minneapolis, Minn., a member of Zeta Psi Chapter and resides in New York City.

Nu Upsilon Achievement Week Celebration

Wilmington, DE. November 2010. Nu Upsilon celebrated Achievement Week with two spectacular events – OmegaFest and Founders' Day.

OmegaFest 2010, chaired by Nu Upsilon's Vice Basileus, Bro. Troy Grant, is a community event that focuses on providing uplift for our young people and the opportunity for them to demonstrate the best of scholarship. Youngsters, ranging in age from 5 – 17, participated in an afternoon of basketball skills competitions, face painting, a trivia contest, and the signature activity – The Spelling Bee. The event was held at the William "Hicks" Anderson Community Center in Wilmington, DE, and was attended by 100+ young people and 50 adults.

The basketball skills competition involved approximately 45 students (divided by age groups), demonstrating their abilities to shoot free throws and to sink three-point shots. The top two scorers, in each of the three age groups, received specially designed trophies.

The trivia contest, based on the hit TV game show Who Wants to Be a Millionaire, provided 25 students with the opportunity to answer trivia questions related to Delaware, Black History, and Current Events. Each student received one lifeline but had to answer five consecutive questions. There were 12 successful students, and each received a crisp $20 bill.

Prior to the final activity, attendees enjoyed light refreshments and a fantastic "stepping" exhibition by the ladies of the Epsilon Rho Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. and the brothers of the Nu Upsilon Step Team.

The highlight of the day was the Spelling Bee. Approximately 50 students, grouped by grade levels, were given the opportunity to spell words, ranging from two letters for the younger students to words with twelve or more letters for the middle and high school students. When all was said and done, the top four spellers received $500, $250, $150, and $100, respectively. As one of the patrons said, "...that was fun!"

Nu Upsilon's Founders' Day Celebration was organized by Bro. Robert Adams with assistance by our Grand Chaplain Bro. Christopher Curry and Bro. Michael Taylor, and was held at Ezion Fair Baptist Church in Wilmington, DE. The evening can best be described as being inspiring and spiritual, as more than 60 men of Omega were in attendance.

The evening's program began with a heartfelt invocation by Grand Chaplain Curry, followed by a tone-setting narrative of the occasion by Bro. Michael Jenkins. The history of Omega was delivered with the best of oratorical skills by Bro. Carlton Lampkins, and rousing, musical renditions by the Ezion Fair mixed choir and the male chorus were truly uplifting and enjoyed by all in attendance. There was also a stepping exhibition by the Holy Steppers, a group of young males from the church; hopefully, they will be Men of Omega.

The major attractions for the evening were the Founders' Tributes given by Bro. George B. Winston, III – former Basileus of Nu Upsilon; Bro. Theodore Greer – former 2nd District Representative; Bro. William Rhines – Chaplain, Nu Upsilon; and Bro. Gerald Folsom, 2nd District Chaplain. Each of the honors was delivered with dignity and in a tone that would have made our founders extremely proud!

Nu Upsilon also presented its Achievement Week awards to: Bro. Kevin W. Evans – Omega Man of the Year; Bro. Jack Perry – Citizen of the Year as the Founder and Executive Director of Prestige Academy, the first all-male, charter middle school in Delaware; and Ms. Enid Wallace-Simms – Corporate Recognition Award for Delmarva Power.

The evening concluded with a host of remarks and a light reception, which provided the opportunity for brothers to socialize with their families and friends who supported this event. We all were inspired and blessed by the experience and occasion to pay homage to the illustrious founders of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc.

Nu Upsilon Promotes Reading Literacy

New Castle County, DE. February 2011, The Brothers of the Nu Upsilon Chapter, under the leadership of Bro. Craig Wolfrey, Social Actions Chairman, conducted it Annual Read-a-Thon at elementary schools throughout New Castle County, DE. This project not only involves reading to the students but engaging them in the activity through the use of a variety of questioning strategies to enhance their comprehension skills and to build their vocabulary.

This year, Bros. Spencer Busch, Carlton Lampkins, Gregory Scudder, and Rick Wiley visited two schools, sharing the joy of reading to approximately 500 students in grades K - 5. The reading selections included different genres of literature such as fiction, non-fiction, and poetry by some of the world's most renowned, award-winning African American and multicultural authors and illustrators. At the end of each session, brothers presented each student with a designer bookmark.

The ability to read well is a skill that lasts a lifetime. Brothers are encouraged to be a part of the "educational village" by promoting reading in their communities. You won't regret this significant contribution towards the academic and career success of our young people.

Pi Omega Fatherhood Initiative Male Mentoring Project

Baltimore, MD. March 11, 2011. The Brothers of Pi Omega Chapter hosted a Father Son/Male Mentoring Breakfast in conjunction with their community partner Matthew Henson Elementary School. Pi Omega Basileus, Zanes Cypress and Pi Omega Brothers provided mentoring and life skill building tools for these phenomenal young boys at the Father/Son Breakfast. More importantly, it was a pleasure to see many fathers and male relatives in attendance actively participating the lives of these young boys. Pi Omega Chapter is an important sponsor of Matthew Henson Elementary School in providing not only mentoring, but any level of support needed to enhance the school within the community. Brother Dr. Gary Rodwell must be commended for taking the lead in this effort. As a result of Pi Omega's commitment to strengthening and enhancing their community partnership with Matthew Henson, it was honored by Matthew Henson Elementary School as Outstanding Partner for its dedicated service to the students and staff. Through relationships such as these, Pi Omega will continue to strengthen its community and serve its people.
