Monroe County Bar Foundation gives back to local grads in pursuit of college degree

Stroudsburg, PA – The Monroe County Bar Foundation continues its history of supporting graduating students. This year scholarships were awarded to worthy students heading to college across the nation.

Students and their families joined Chairman William Reaser and Treasurer Diane Dagger as they awarded $7,000 in scholarships to local college bound students.

In honor of the late Judge Ronald E. Vican, the Foundation awarded a $1,000 scholarship to Kiaya Jones from Pocono Mountain East High School. Ms. Jones will be pursuing a degree in Communications / Graphic Design / Project Management at Notre Dame.

Additionally, the Foundation awarded Pleasant Valley's Teagan Angell, East Stroudsburg South's Kayla Clare, Pocono Mountain East's Mia Edma and Megan Hughes from Stroudsburg each with $1,500 in support of their future endeavors toward their college careers. Students will be attending universities including Penn State Harrisburg, Fordham, East Stroudsburg University and George Mason, with concentrations ranging from Law Enforcement, to Government to Criminology and Law.
